When the cases were tried in the Circuit Court at the time, a judgment was rendered against the property holders, but reversed in the Court of Appeals. Columbus Letter.

Raid by Revenue Officers—Legislation and Other Doings.

Special Correspondent of the Star.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13, 1914.

For some time past the Revenue Officers under General Walker have been under the silent conviction that the Government was being swindled by the smuggling and sale of cigars in this market, and by reason of the dealers refilling the empty boxes which had been at one time legally stamped, but upon being emptied were refilled with cigars.

About 4 o'clock this afternoon the revenue officers made a general examination of all the principal cigar establishments in the city, and ordered the dealers to destroy all their empty boxes, of every kind and description, which request, of course, was reluctantly complied with.

The cigar dealers and manufacturers claim that this action is an arbitrary one, which does them a great injustice. They further assert that it is a special favoritism that is being shown to the manufacturers of cigar boxes. Some of them, however, intimate that some of their unscrupulous brethren have been in the habit of twice using the same stamped box for the sale of cigars, replenishing them according as they are being sold out.

The matter creates some little excitement not only in Columbus, but in many of the adjacent towns where cigars are extensively manufactured.

In the Senate this afternoon Mr. Richards offered a resolution to inquire into the mysterious disappearance of the furniture in the Senate during the adjournment. It seems that twenty-three arm-chairs and a wardrobe and sofa have mysteriously walked out of the Senate Chamber and taken their departure for some place unknown. The committee will investigate the matter, and investigation means the purchase of new furniture.

The "Fenicians," a local military organization and benevolent society of this city, hold a grand banquet here to-night. They are composed of some of the old veterans of the State, and were the first military company in the United States to respond to the call to arms at the breaking out of the rebellion, sending seventy-three men to do battle for the Union.

AMUSEMENTS.

ART VIEWS AND LECTURE AT PIKE'S.

Professor Stoddard entertained an invited company at Pike's Opera-house last night, with an exhibition of his art views and a lecture on the subjects illustrated. The house was completely filled and every one was greatly pleased with the entertainment. The views are magnificent pieces of work, so accurate in the most minute particular that one is almost persuaded that he is gazing upon the reality instead of a picture. Of last night's exhibition the illustration of St. Mark's Square and Cathedral was of itself sufficient for a night's entertainment. While other artists in the same line have exhibited very fine views, none have been able to present them with such interest as Professor Stoddard. His lecture is a fluent, intelligent commentary upon what is shown, and in the interest it is made that the attention is frequently drawn from the beautiful pictures to a search for the speaker, whose form appears in the darkness near it. To-night the exhibition is thrown open to the public at low price of admission, and the subject announced is "Rome, the Eternal City." The house should, and doubtless will, be again filled to its utmost.

THE MINSTRELS AT THE GRAND.

At the Grand Opera-house last night Emerson's Minstrels opened to a crowded house. Billy Emerson is a general favorite and always brings a fine troupe. This is his first appearance this season, and the excellence of the troupe and the warm welcome of the audience was just what might have been expected. The troupe is a fine one in all particulars, and Billy is his old self, and more so. The "Big Four," Smith, Walker, Martin and Martin are immense, and no mistake. Every night this week and matinee Wednesday and Saturday, complete change of programme Thursday evening.

Our Tenure of Life

Depends in great measure upon our regard for or neglect of the laws of health. If we violate them we can not expect to "make old bones." But that the span of existence allotted to a naturally delicate constitution, or one which has been shaken by disease may be materially lengthened, is a fact of which we have daily proof. The vivifying and restorative influence of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters upon a failing physique affords a striking illustration of the power of judicious medication to strengthen the hold on life. Restored digestion, complete assimilation, renewed appetite, sound repose, these are among the benefits conferred upon the debilitated by that supreme renovant. With a circulation enriched, a frame invigorated, and a nervous system tranquilized, the invalid, after a course of the Bitters, feels that his life tenure is no longer the precarious thing that it was—that he may yet enjoy a "green old age."
